

Alain Dumont

Education

Diploma from HEC School of Management, Paris.
Master of Arts at Paris, Sorbonne.

Academic and professional experience

Professor Emeritus at HEC School of Management. January 2005 – at present.

CEO at ADSTRAT. 2005 – at present.

Currently serving as chairman and/or board member in small and medium size innovative companies and in a hi-tech investment fund.

Professor of Strategy and Business Policy at HEC.

Visiting professor at Tulane University (New Orleans. USA) where he teaches a course of “Global Strategy”.

Faculty Vice-President with Gemini Consulting and Cap Gemini Ernst & Young.

Professor Strategic Management at HEC School of Management, Paris. 1979 – 2005. Specialist of innovation management, Dumont has an extensive experience as a strategic adviser to world class fashion companies, and serves as a board member of innovative start-ups in the luxury industry.

Consultant at EUREQUIP, GEMINI CONSULTING, CAP GEMINI 1969 – 2002. The first part of his career has been with Eurequip, a consultancy in which he developed an expertise in international business and corporate strategy.

Publications

Innovater dans les services – de l'évident à l'impensable, Village Mondial, 2001.

Research and teaching

His field of research and teaching has been in international strategy and in innovation management. He is the author of three books in these domains: "The technical challenges and opportunities of a United Europe" (Pinter Press. 1990), "Histoire(s) d'innover" (Interéditions. 1992) and "Innovater dans les services" (Village Mondial. 2001)